

Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic Scheduled For November 14th

Residents of Didsbury and district are urged to respond to the "Call to Arms" being issued by the Red Cross Blood Transfusion Service.

An outbreak of jaundice in Lethbridge earlier this Fall, forcing cancellation of blood donor clinics in that area, has resulted in the loss of close to 1800 bottles of blood usually collected from that area.

In order to maintain an adequate blood supply for hospital needs despite this loss, more donors are needed at clinics being scheduled in other centres of Southern Alberta.

A Didsbury clinic will be held at the school on Friday, November 14, from 1:30 to 4:00. If you are in good health, between the ages of 18 and 65, you can be a blood donor. Answer the call from your Red Cross . . . "Stretch Out Your Arm To Save A Life".

This district should not be too proud of their efforts during the past couple of years. In 1954 there were 341 bottles of blood gathered here; in 1957 there were only 259.

Elsewhere on this page you'll notice a picture of Mayor Lynch-Staunton behind the handles of a wheelbarrow as he gives Mayor Ted Miller of Olds a free ride. This was the result of a contest staged between the two towns — the one with the lesser donation had to appear for this humiliating performance. Let's not let it happen again. The trophy is up for grabs again this time — let's make sure our mayor gets the free ride.

VISITING SPEEDERS PAY THE SHOT

One day last week two young men, who gave their address as Olds, appeared in court before Magistrate D. N. McDonald, and were fined for operating their motor vehicles at an unreasonable rate of speed in the vicinity of the Didsbury school.

DRY WEATHER HELPS HARVEST COMPLETION

More than a month of dry weather has allowed Alberta farmers to complete the harvesting of their crops.

Both yields and grades of crops are generally higher this year than last, R. E. English, statistician with the Alberta department of agriculture said on Wednesday.

Due to the little moisture in parts of the province early in the season, early crop estimates were low. Estimates increased later in the summer. The higher than expected yields were allowed by crops forming good root systems down to the moisture reserves deep in the ground.

TODAY'S CHUCKLE

Parents spend the first part of a child's life getting him to walk and talk, and the rest of his childhood getting him to sit down and keep quiet.

I'LL BE OUT PEAKING AROUND ON FRIDAY NIGHT. 'TIS ONE OF MY BIG NIGHTS OF THE YEAR. AND ONE OF YOURS WE IMAGINE — LET'S ALL HAVE FUN LIKE WE DID LAST YEAR — LET'S NOT DISRUPT TRAFFIC OR DESTROY PROPERTY — LET'S JUST SETTLE FOR GOOD CLEAN FUN.

She will be the special speaker in a service at the Evangelical United Brethren church on Sunday night, Nov. 2nd, at 7:30 p.m. She will be telling of her experiences and of the mission work in that land, and will also show colored slides of the work as it is carried on.

To the many friends of the church, as well as her friends in the community, a welcome is extended to you to attend.

Christmas Mails On The Move

Better ear-mark the last day in October for overseas Christmas parcels. At least this is what the Post Office recommends.

Mail deadline for trans-Atlantic points is as follows: by surface, letters should be in the post office no later than November 26th, parcels by November 24. For European continent, letters should be in the post office box by Nov. 22, parcels by the 20th.

For trans-Pacific destinations you should mail that surface going parcel as early as October 28, if you want someone in Japan to be happy Christmas morning.

With Christmas approximately two months away postal authorities urge the public to mail early and to consult with local post masters concerning allowable weights and postage.

Christmas mail for armed forces will be geared to the above schedules. The date shown for the European continent will also apply for troops in Egypt and other countries in the Middle East. To air mail letters should be posted by December 11 and parcels by the 9th.

FALL WEED CONTROL

Canada Thistle and Perennial Sow
Thistle had a "field day" in 1958.
The spread of these two pernicious weeds presents a serious problem to the prairie farmer with a serious weed control problem. Steps should be taken this fall to control them.

Beneficial Effects. Late fall cultivation will do a great deal to weaken the root systems of both Canada and Sow Thistle, although Sow Thistle is affected more by this treatment than Canada Thistle.
Besides, many winter annuals, such as Stinkweed and Winter-seed Mustard, are easy to kill during the late fall and difficult to control in the spring.

Kill Seedlings. A fact that is not given the consideration it deserves in perennial weed control is that the seedling of a perennial weed is just as easy to kill by tillage as an annual. Billions of thistle seeds were produced in the Prairie Provinces in 1958. Many of these found their way to your fallow or stubble fields, and in all probability they have now produced healthy seedlings. A good fall cultivation will destroy these young plants before they have a chance to produce a vigorous, perennial root system.

Wild Oats. Late fall cultivation also helps to control Wild Oats.
Many Wild Oat seeds that dropped to the ground during the harvest season will have dried and afterripened. Fall cultivation will control these seeds and encourage early germination next spring when cultivation will destroy them.

Erosion is a Danger. On many finely-worked fallows, the soil may be bare and subject to soil erosion.
This is where the full application of chemicals can be helpful. Spraying with 2-4-D will kill winter annual and biennial weeds, and most seedling perennials. It will also give a real setback to mature thistles and other perennials. At the same time the weed growth will be left on the field over winter and will serve to protect the soil against wind and water erosion.

Don't forget, any tillage or spraying practice you undertake this fall to control thistles and other troublesome weeds will pay off in dollars in 1959.

Ramblin' and Roamin'

Just For The Record . . .

Driving home from the south the other morning we were more than impressed by the fine four-lane highway and the very attractive and conspicuous green and white signs that give motorists a guide to the towns that are not on the main stem. 'Twas easy enough to figure where to turn off if we had cared to visit either Airdrie, Crossfield, Beiseker or Carstairs. But there the holiday ended as far as we were concerned. Driving towards "our town" we had to use our bifocals to read the wee sign pointing towards "our town." The government has provided us with a fine hardtop trail leading our way; would it be too much to ask that they now produce one of those attractive directional signs so travellers can make use of the new road and visit with us?

Want To Go Fishing ?

If so, we've got a couple of spots nearby where you could drop anchor anytime and come up with a couple of small ones. A young friend of ours presented us with an even half dozen fish the other day (in the live form yet); a kind lady came through with a bowl to keep them in; a hired hand produced some food for them. All we have to do now is follow instructions: change the water on schedule, feed 'em once a day, change their diapers occasionally, and we'll have an aquarium here for some time to come. Ah, yes, to add to the confusion, our wee datter added to the collection when she arrived home the other day with a goldfish. You're wanting fish? We have 'em.

What's A Conscience . . .

"That still small voice that tells you what other people should do."

Guest Editorial

IT COULD EASILY HAVE HAPPENED HERE

We do not drive down town too often at night, but on three or four occasions lately when we were required to do so we were confronted by pairs of cars racing back and forth and turning corners recklessly. The most obviously dangerous occasion was last Tuesday evening.

These two car loads of young people drove up from Main Street to the Highway corner, obviously racing, made the stop for the Highway light, drove on south with motors roaring, made the turn at the Anglican Church and raced back to the Highway light, from where they took off to the eastward with motors wide open.

This was a perfect set-up for just such an accident as happened in Forestburg Saturday night. On another recent occasion we saw two cars racing from the north, cutting their speed wide open when released by the stop-light at the Corner Drug. They made a wreckless turn at the City Office corner, and again when turning north at the Camrose Auto Service corner.

True, the heavy traffic of the busy time of the day was off the street, but one can never be sure when a pedestrian will show up in the beam of a headlight. It is the few exceptions like these that make driving so expensive for the rank and file of motorists. That extra insurance rate for the younger driver bears down pretty hard.

On the other hand, we see more and more women driving, particularly at mall time in the morning and they drive with a confidence that is amazing, respecting traffic laws and the rights of other motorists. All this recalls a talk we heard School Superintendent Stan Hamblin give to a high school graduating class.

He told them that if they were 16 years of age and could qualify, they had the right to ask for the use of the family car on a reasonable number of occasions . . . but that along with the "right" went the responsibility to care for the car and the safety of the other passengers in the car as well as the safety of the other motorists on the highway.

Payments Going Out Now . . .

Payments to western grain producers under the federal government's $40 million emergency grant are being distributed this week, according to an announcement made by Prime Minister Diefenbaker. The money is being distributed by the Canadian Wheat Board on the basis of $1.00 a cultivated acre up to a maximum of $200 a farm. Payments are based on cultivated acreage records in delivery permit books for the present crop season and are being made directly to permit holders.

The term "cultivated acreage" to which the payments apply includes all acres listed in the permit book except that shown as uncultivated land and natural pasture.

Between one-third and one-quarter of the total payment will come to Alberta farmers.

A. T. Baker, general manager of the Alberta Wheat Pool, said that he was pleased the payment was going out this month. He said it would be welcomed by farmers, many of whom have been able to make only small deliveries this season and have had little income from their grain.

Farm marketings in Alberta this autumn have been held down by the month-long strike of longshoremen on the West Coast and congestion in terminal elevators at the Lakehead. Many delivery points are still on the unit quota. He added that though the Wheat Pool was disappointed over the size of the payment, it was encouraged by the government's recognition of the difficult position in which many farmers of the West now find themselves.

U.F.A. Co-OP President Discusses Farm Organization

Mr. Geo. E. Church, president of U.F.A. Co-op, in a recent interview drew attention to the fact that Nov. 3-8 is National Farm Union Week. He stated that in this drive for membership in the Farmers' Union of Alberta, farmers have the opportunity to show that they are united in their efforts to do something about the Cost-Price squeeze. Mr. Church said he felt it was vital to the welfare of Alberta farmers that an enthusiastic sign-up be made when canvassers call during this week. He stated that the effectiveness of the program of the F.U.A. for the next 12 months would hinge on the outcome of this membership drive and expressed optimism that the farmers of Alberta would rally to the support of their union.

The president of U.F.A. Co-op said it he could address the farmers of Alberta personally, his message would be this: "The membership drive during National Farm Union Week is your chance to join your Farmer's Union. It is also your opportunity to sign your authorization for municipal collection of dues. U.F.A. Co-op strongly urges all farmers and particularly its members to take an active part in National Farm Union Week. Join the Farmers' Union of Alberta. Get your neighbors to join."

Push Button Age

Motor cars of the future will be driven by electronics, enabling drivers to enjoy more of the fruits of the scientific age, in the opinion of some motor club officials.

From all reports, the push-button age lies just over the horizon. It is predicted that electronic developments in the next 10 to 20 years will make driving both easier and safer.

While it is too early to foresee the precise direction of these developments, it is safe to say that the car owner of 1978 will be able to turn over to electronic gadgets many of today's responsibilities of driving. The conversion to electronics will be gradual but it is certain to come, says an official of the American Automobile Association.

A number of large cities, such as Chicago, Baltimore and others already utilize electronics to control the flow of traffic and the major automobile companies are working on electronic experiments to make driving more fool-proof. In a recent demonstration, a test car was driven blind over an electronically geared road.

A motor club official said gadgets now on the drawing board would warn motorists when they are too close to the car in front, thus reducing the number of rear-end collisions. Others would make it possible to travel for many miles on electronic freeways without touching the steering wheel.

PROVEN GAS FIELD WEST OF CARSTAIRS

According to an announcement in The Calgary Herald, the area six miles west of Carstairs is now a proven gas field. With three wells completed and a fourth nearing completion, it is rated as one of the major gas finds of 1958 and will be connected to Trans Canada Pipe Lines as soon as connections can be made by Alberta Gas Trunk Lines.

The wells in this field are being drilled one to each 640 acres, it is announced, and four more wells are to be completed in the near future.

Officials of Home Oil, who are a major owner in the venture, say the gas contains very little sulphur and will take little cleaning before being turned into the pipe lines.

FAMOUS QUOTE . . .

"The man who wakes up to find himself famous has not been asleep!"

Notes From B.A.

District Agriculturalist

By HOWARD FULCHER

Russian Wild Rye grass is a grass which is receiving quite a bit of publicity in recent years. It is not entirely a new grass but has only been experimented with in the last 15 years to any extent and seed production has been only recently carried out in Western Canada.

This grass is a good draught resistant grass that remains green during the summer. It can be used well in rotational pastures for summer grazing. It is generally considered as a pasture grass rather than a hay grass and its use as a pasture appears to be for the drier areas; in moist areas there is no great advantage over brome, timothy or fescue.

This grass will in all likelihood find a place as a pasture grass in Western Canada. It appears that it is well suited to drier areas giving good summer and fall grazing.

When used for hay, the quality is good and in feeding trials has given good gains in livestock. However, the growth nature of this plant which produces leaves development

close to the ground, forms clumps difficult to cut for hay and does not give high hay yield.

Seed production is on the increase; the price of seed is now high but in all likelihood will drop as more seed becomes available.

Seed production is not easy; the crop shatters readily; sometimes up to 50% is lost in shattering.

For seed production the crop is grown in rows, three feet apart. In seed production 15-20-0 has proven to be satisfactory as a fertilizer

as any to use. It appears the foothills area of Alberta can be expected to produce good seed yields.

EXPENSIVE DYING . . .

When Canada's new Estate Tax

Act takes effect January 1, the cost of dying in the central provinces will become sharply higher than in the other eight provinces, points out The Financial Post.

Along among the 10 provinces,

Ontario and Quebec will continue to impose succession duties even after Ottawa has abandoned succession duties in favor of a tax on estates.

The result will be a marked difference between total taxes in the two provinces and in the other eight.

Specialists in the work of administering estates see no immediate likelihood that the Big Two will depart from their declared position — which is that the British North America Act gives them

prior rights in this field.

DISTRICT NEWS

M.V.B.C. NEWS

(From Our Own Correspondent)

A large number of students were either taking services elsewhere, or were weekend visitors. These lovely days make it possible for them to go, and they always bring back glowing reports of their visits.

Mrs. Suder and Mrs. Finlay held a missionary meeting in the Bergen church on Sunday.

Rev. and Mrs. A. Witt were guest speakers in the Montomery church on Sunday. They have recently returned from Nigeria and have a splendid selection of pictures to show as they do a little evangelism work during the winter months.

On Wednesday evening the faculty and students honored Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Eby on the occasion of their 22nd wedding anniversary. The students held their first social evening in the Student Center on Friday evening. Miss Anne Snyder, who is convener for the social-recreation committee of the Student Council, was in charge. Mrs. Taylor is faculty sponsor for the committee.

A new student enrolled Friday. Another second year student will come this week. They are late, to be sure, but their schedules are so arranged that the work required will be possible. This will bring the enrollment to 58.

An additional boiler has been secured for heating purposes for the winter. The new centre requires a little more facilities than formerly.

The week will see the ministerial convention in Calgary for all ministers and workers in the United Missionary church. There will be no classes on Thursday afternoon, as several of the workers have a part in the program planned for the occasion. The students will have a full program however, as they are planning outdoor activities during the afternoon.

ZELLA NOTES

(From Our Own Correspondent)

An extra bit of excitement was added when the W.I. met at the home of Mrs. Nelson. As the ladies were arriving a brush and grass fire broke out and threatened the Nelson home. Within a few minutes however neighbors rallied to a call for help and extinguished the blaze. By all reports, Mrs. H. Richardson, first on the scene, did a marvelous job of fire fighting. The previous day neighbors had helped Clarence Luft fight a grass fire which had gotten out of control.

On Friday, October 17th, the Zella Community sponsored a joint shower for two bride-elects: Miss Irene Christensen and Miss Marilyn Knight. The evening was spent in merriment. Mrs. Christensen and Leslie Waldruff rendered a duet and Mrs. W. Herbert entertained with two humorous readings.

The gifts were presented in a gaily decorated Model T Ford, with Arthur Waldruff acting as master of ceremonies.

The honored guests expressed their thanks for the lovely gifts received.

Set. Andy Oppen, R.C.A.P. of Rockliffe, Ont., now on operations out of Calgary, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Oppen. On Sunday, October 19th, a family dinner was held at the home of his sister, Mrs. A. Waldruff, with 17 guests present. Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Jaboke and Mr. and Mrs. A. Oppen recently were Mr. and Mrs. Benny Pearson and Beverly Mrs. G. Kvale and Mrs. H. Grahm, all of Camrose, and Miss Anna Aker and Mr. Hans Aker of Bawlf.

Mrs. A. Waldruff returned home Saturday after spending a few days in the Didsbury hospital.

OREMONA NEWS

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Mrs. McLaren of Edmonton is visiting with Mrs. M. Reid for ten days. They had tea with Mrs. J. McLean and Mrs. Van Houten at the former's home on Saturday.

The Sewing Circle held its annual bazaar at the Woodman hall on October 22nd. About $250 was realized, a portion of which is designated to aid the crippled children of this province.

Mr. Russell Haley, won the bedspread and Miss Marilyn Taylor the cake.

Tommy Earl spent this week visiting with the Vair Reids. Margaret is at Jake Wieber's while their parents are in Victoria.

A good crowd was present at the sale of Dave Moore, west of Water Valley last Thursday.

Mr. Tom Sirr returned home last week after spending six weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. Sirr. We are very happy to hear that he is much improved since taking chiropractic treatments during his stay here.

Mrs. L. Randolph of Red Deer spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. J. Ratnay.

LIGHT YOUR WAY . . .

. . . WITH BIBLE STUDY

The story is told of a slave girl who was placed on the public auction block. Her body was to be sold to the highest bidder. She was turned about, this way and that, that all might see and make an estimate. The bids came in rapid succession, for she was young, strong and comely.

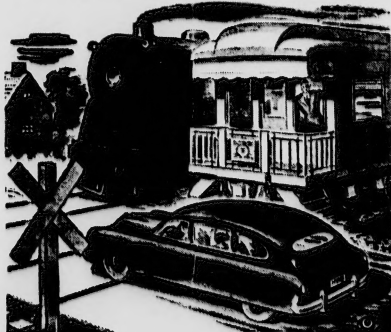

Finally one outbid all the others and he got the prize. No sooner had he laid down the money and taken possession of his property than he turned to the slave-girl and said: "You are free. I have bought you free. You may go your way."

She looked at him with her large wondering eyes, she stared at the hungry-eyed crowd around her, she did not understand. "Free," he said, "you may go; you are free. I have given you your liberty." The sincerity of his tone and the love in his eyes told her it was true. She felt at his feet and, seized by a tide of responding gratitude, said: "Oh, sir, I don't want to be free. I want to serve you. Let me serve you not as a slave but as a friend."

Christ has redeemed me, and you. "Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world." Yes, He took my sins and so has redeemed me from its punishment. "He faith made Him to be sin for us who know no sin that we might be made the righteousness of God in Him." Redeem means "buy back." Jesus in redeeming me from sin, death and the devil paid the ransom price, His own life.

The reason He redeemed me: that I might be His own and serve Him, not by compulsion as a slave, but out of love for all that my Lord has done and still does for me. Thus my life here on earth ought to be a life dedicated to Him who gave His life that I might have life.

Friend, you also have been redeemed, ransomed. Are you now serving your Lord out of love and gratitude for all He has done? Or are you still serving, in slavish fear, your former master, the devil? Friend, consider well: "He died for all that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto Him which died for them and rose again."

PRIME MINISTER'S TOUR TO BE FAMILY VISIT

Prime Minister Diefenbaker, took off Tuesday on a globe-circling tour, says he hopes to make a "family visit" to Commonwealth countries.

"This tour is designed in particular to be a practical illustration of Canada's belief in the importance of the Commonwealth today," he said in a speech recorded for broadcast by the CBC's international service.

"Essentially, the Commonwealth is a family of nations, and I hope this will be regarded as a family visit."

"In our own families, in our own communities, friendships and personal relations have to operate both ways. So it is, as I see it, between nations."

"This tour," the prime minister said, "is a practical illustration of Canada's belief in the importance of the Commonwealth."
